THAMES VALLEY POLICE

THIRTY YEARS ON,
can you help us find Vera Holland's killer?

Vera Holland, aged 47, from Reading, was last seen on 14 November 1996 after leaving her home to walk to KFC on Shinfield Road, Reading. She never returned home.

In the early hours of 16 November 1996, her body was found at a fly-tip known locally as 'Two Bridges', near the Thames Water pumping station off the A327 between Arborfield and Shinfield. Despite extensive enquiries over the past 30 years, nobody has been convicted of Vera's murder.

We are asking anyone with information about Vera's murder, no matter how small or insignificant it may seem, to come forward. Investigators believe there are people who know what happened but have never shared what they know with police. Someone, somewhere, knows what happened to Vera. If you have any information, however small, please come forward and contact Thames Valley Police.

Anyone with information is asked to contact police on 101 or email majorcrimereviewteam@thamesvalley.police.uk, quoting reference number 0529 (6/11).
